One Rebel Band Still in Field

Is Being Hunted In The Hills of Vera Cruz By Federal Forces—Many Have Been Captured and Executed.

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 10 (AP).—Mexico's military revolt, launched as a nation-wide uprising, entered its second week today with only one rebel band of consequence in the field, and that hunted through the hills of Vera Cruz by overwhelming Federal forces.

General Francisco Serrano and many of his supporters have been captured and executed under President Calles's campaign for stern suppression of the insurrection. General Arnulfo Gomez, named as the other chief in the revolt, with General Hector Almada and their little army of not more than 2,000 men are pursuing what the government declares is a forlorn hope.

Gomez and Almada have maneuvered their slender forces cleverly, avoiding decisive battle with the numerous Federal soldiers—some reports say 10,000—seeking them. Military men say it is possible they may prolong their activities for months, dividing their followers into small bands which can evade pursuit in the wild mountainous country of central Vera Cruz. Others believe Gomez and Almada are seeking to reach the coast and thus escape leaving their followers to disperse.

Small groups of armed men in other states have increased their activities, taking advantage of the withdrawal of federal troops for the operations against the Gomez-Almada army, but it is stated that these are more properly classed as bandits than rebels.

Two Alleged Assassins Die

Third Member of Gang Wanted in Connection With the Killing of General Kovachevitch is Captured in Cave.

Belgrade, Jugo Slavia, Oct. 10 (AP).—Run to earth in a cave on Mount Maleche, two of the alleged assassins of the Jugo Slav Brigadier General Michael Kouvachevitch have been killed and a third captured.

The men took refuge in the cave when pursued by the local militia. An all night siege ensued, many shots being exchanged. This morning the militiamen rushed the cave and found two of their quarry dead. The third man was taken to Istip, where General Kovachevitch was assassinated last week.

London, Oct. 10 (AP).—Considerable concern is felt here over the tense situation between Jugo Slavia and Bulgaria which has arisen in consequence of the raids over the border and the assassination of General Kovachevitch, charged to Bulgarian comitadji. Hope persists, however, that an amicable arrangement will soon be reached.

The fact that Bulgaria is virtually disarmed under the post war settlement is regarded as precluding the possibility of war, and it is understood that friendly external pressure is being exerted unobtrusively on both governments to insure an agreement.

Labor Fears Stormy Session

Los Angeles, Oct. 10 (AP).—A storm which has been gathering for the last week, with delegates of two western states providing the threats of oratorical thunder to come, hung over the American Federation of Labor convention today.

The storm centered on several resolutions offered by delegates of California and Arizona relative to the development of the Colorado river and the disposition of the water and power from that source.

California's labor representatives have called upon the convention for the Federation's support of the Boulder Canyon dam project, which Southern California cities are advocating as a water and power source.

Arizona delegates countered with a resolution demanding that the principle of state's rights be maintained in developing the river.

Many Drowned During Festival

Povoa de Varzim, North Portugal, Oct. 10 (AP).—Many persons were drowned, including women and children, during a festival today held for the benefit of the fishing folk here.

Two boats filled with men, women and children, overturned. Sailors aboard a nearby warship jumped into the sea and saved seven persons. Only four bodies had been recovered this afternoon.

Chicago, Oct. 10 (AP).—The Rev. J. A. L. Warren, deposed Durand, Ill., Methodist minister, has announced he will appeal the verdict of the Rock River Conference trial board which found him guilty of misconduct on charges filed by Miss Hazel Lee Lamb, 19 year old Sunday school teacher.

Drunk or Scared Was the Problem

Lizzie Bloodshaw, a Negress Who Did Not Know Her Age, Was Still Puzzled Over the Question—Is Given Another Chance.

"Ah don't know whether I was drunk or most skeered to death," confided Lizzie Bloodshaw, a negress, to Judge Shufeldt this morning in police court when she was arraigned to answer to a charge of public intoxication.

"How is that?" asked the judge.

"Ah was standing on the street when the officer came up and tapped me on the back. Ah tell you it certainly stopped mah blood from circulating. Deed, ah like to died 'fore ah got to 1818. Yas, sir, dat's the truth."

The negress in reply to further questions said that she lived in East Kingston and that this was her third trip to police court. She was uncertain as to what her age was.

She was found intoxicated on lower Hasbrouck avenue Saturday afternoon by Officer Roedell.

Judge Shufeldt imposed a sentence of ten days in jail and suspended the serving of it provided she returned at once to East Kingston.

Missing Woman Arrested Here

Mrs. May Lange, Formerly of Accord, Found Working as a Waitress Here, Is Accused of Deserting Her Baby in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. May Lange, 21 years old, was arrested early this morning at Sahler's Sanitarium where she had been working as a waitress under the name of Mary Bishop of Kerhonkson and is being held by the police department for the Poughkeepsie authorities where she is wanted to answer to a charge of abandoning her baby.

Early this month her father, Eltinge Besimer of Accord, called at police headquarters here and asked the police to help him in locating his daughter who had disappeared. He had previously applied to the Poughkeepsie authorities where he said she had disappeared while working there, leaving her baby behind her at the place where she boarded.

Since then the police have been working on the case and the arrest followed as the result of the investigation they had made.

Kouhout Jailed For Fifty Days

Linderman Avenue Youth Was Arrested on Two Charges—One Charge Dismissed. He is Sentenced on Other.

Frank Kouhout of Linderman avenue was arrested Friday afternoon on two charges by the police. The first was discharging firearms and the other of helping himself to an automobile without the owner's permission.

Saturday in police court the charge of discharging firearms was dismissed. On the other charge he was fined $50 or fifty days in jail. Unable to pay the fine, he was committed to the county jail.

The charge on which he was jailed was that of petit larceny as the value of the automobile was less than $50. The car was later found at a local junk yard, where it had been sold for $7.

FOUR SAT IN FRONT SEAT OF FATAL AUTO.

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 10 (AP).—Investigation by Boston and Albany officials of yesterday's accident at a grade crossing near Greenwich, in which two persons were killed and six others injured when an automobile was struck by a train on the Athol branch, brought out today that four persons were occupying the front seat of the automobile, which according to District Superintendent H. J. Curry was doubtless a contributing cause why Robert Lee, Jr., of this city, driver, was unable to see the train.

Shanghai, China, Oct. 10 (AP).—The Nanking Nationalist government today observed extensively the sixteenth anniversary of the revolution which brought about the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty and the founding of the Chinese Republic.

Paris to Buenos Aires Flight

Costes Expects To Make The Trip in Three Days—Had Previously Planned Paris to New York Trip.

Le Bourget, France, Oct. 10 (AP).—Prevented by bad weather from attempting the Paris to New York flight this late in the season, Dieudonne Costes and Lieutenant Joseph Le Brix turned the nose of their plane, the "Nungesser-Coli" to the south today, with Buenos Aires as ultimate destination.

They took off at 9:45 o'clock, hoping to make St. Louis, Senegal, 2,700 miles away, on the first hop, then cross the south Atlantic to Natal on the Brazilian coast and proceed to the Argentine Capital with one more stop, at Rio de Janeiro.

Their Breguet military biplane rose easily after a run of 1,800 yards, circled the field twice and soon disappeared on the southward way over Paris. It was escorted on its way by a military plane which had previously gone aloft to investigate the weather conditions.

Soon after the start Le Brix was heard signalling on the radio that all was going well.

Only 650 gallons of gas, about three-fourths of the plane's capacity, were taken for the first leg of the flight. The plane is driven by a single 550 horsepower Hispano-Suize motor. All the tanks are equipped with a quick emptying device which also seals them and converts them into buoys for the plane in case of a forced alighting at sea. The cockpit is watertight. A collapsed balloon bag is stored under part of the fuselage with a bottle of compressed air attached, to aid in floating the plane in an emergency. In addition to these precautions, the airmen have a small rubber lifeboat.

The plane's radio has a range of about 300 miles, and the call letters are FRAM.

"Paris to Buenos Aires in three days—that's what we are after," said Costes as he climbed into the cockpit.

Hannibal Wore Blue Bath Robe

That and His Underwear Were All He Had on When Arrested Saturday Night in an Automobile—Had Been Working as a Waiter.

Clad in a bright blue bath robe, Hannibal H. Wanzer, a negro who said he resided at 32 Liberty street, faced Judge Shufeldt in police court this morning charged with disorderly conduct. The hearing was adjourned to Tuesday morning.

According to Hannibal's story in police court, he had been drinking, which was the reason for his antics of Saturday night when he was found clad only in his underwear and the bath robe in the automobile of Jerry Martin which was parked on Maiden Lane. The attention of Special Officer George DeGraff had been attracted to the car by the lights being turned on and off. When he found Hannibal alone in the car he placed him under arrest.

Hannibal had plenty of clothes with him as he had a suit case filled. He also had a bundle of law books with him and informed Sergeant Phinney that he was a law student.

During the past summer Hannibal said he had been employed as a waiter in one of the local hotels. He is a stocky built negro and judging from his reply to questions in police court is fairly well educated.

Four Men Die In Gun Battle

Prestonsburg, Ky., Oct. 10 (AP).—Four men are dead and two reported dying today as the result of two gun fights in the southern part of Floyd County late Sunday afternoon and night.

In the sidecar was riding Arthur Nitchmann, a brother of the driver of the machine, who sustained an injured right leg, which was treated at the Kingston City Hospital. Roberts, who was knocked down, was cut on the head and bruised on the leg. Roberts refused medical attention and was taken to police headquarters and later went home

More Doped Than Drunk, Said He

Whitfield Man Came to Kingston to Do Shopping and Indulged in Too Much Wet Goods on North Front Street—Given Another Chance.

"I guess I was more doped than drunk," said Theron Durham in reply to questions in police court today when he was arraigned before Judge Shufeldt on a charge of public intoxication. According to Theron's story he had come to Kingston on Saturday morning with a check for $30 and $10 in cash. Of that amount he had [illegible] when he faced the judge.

Theron said that he had been saving his money as he needed underwear and some new clothes, but after [illegible] had had a few drinks but they had not bothered him, so that afternoon he had two more whiskies on North Front street. What happened after that he was unable to say, but it was Sunday morning when he was picked up intoxicated on Broadway by Officer Camm.

Judge Shufeldt advised him the next time he came to Kingston, he had better do his shopping first, and fined him $[illegible] but suspended the payment provided Theron returned to his job at Accord.

This Is Fire Prevention Week

Addresses on Fire Prevention Delivered in City Schools—Householders Should Take Precautions—Fire Department Inspection Free.

This is "Fire Prevention Week" in Kingston and this morning many of the city schools were visited and brief addresses made by a number of volunteer speakers.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said that householders before starting the heater should see to it that fireplaces and chimneys were in a safe condition and if any condition was found which was deemed unsafe, the fire department would gladly make an inspection if requested to do so. There is no charge for the inspection, which is one of the methods used by the local fire department in preventing fires in the city.

Plans for the observance of the week have been made by Fire Chief Murphy and Secretary Louis S. Coe, of the Chamber of Commerce, and in addition to the addresses at the various schools the fire department will make an inspection of industrial and mercantile plants during the week to eliminate fire hazards.

Smith Plans to Make 4 Speeches

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 10 (AP).—Governor Smith plans to make only four speeches in his campaign this fall against the four year term amendment. Each address will be broadcast, and the final one, to be given in New York on the night of November 5, will be radioed by a hook-up of stations operating in the state.

In announcing his plans today, Governor Smith said his first speech would be in Buffalo, probably within the next two weeks. The second of the series will be made in this city, while the other two will be delivered in Greater New York.

"This year is different from the usual campaign year," explained the governor. "You can't go around talking about the same thing all the time."

Widow and Beach Plead Not Guilty

Refused Their Release on Bail—Defendants Face Each Other For First Time Since the Killing.

May's Landing, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP).—Mrs. Margaret [illegible] Lilliendahl and Willis Beach today pleaded not guilty to a joint indictment charging them with the murder of the woman's husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, and were refused their release on bail. Their trial will not begin before November 28.

Attorneys for the 42 year old widow and the [illegible] year old poultry raiser made a formal application immediately after the defendants pleaded, for their release on bail. The state opposed the request.

The court room was crowded when the defendants were brought from their cells in the nearby county jail.

Mrs. Lilliendahl came into court leaning on the arm of Sheriff James Cimino.

It was the first time the two defendants had faced each other since a few days after the killing of Dr. Lilliendahl, who was found dead in his automobile with three bullet wounds in his head. The killing occurred September 15.

Mrs. Lilliendahl, who was with her husband when he was slain, maintains that he was killed by two negroes who jumped on their car while they were motoring on a lonely road near Hammonton, shot the elderly physician, robbed him and her.

Horbocienski's Case Adjourned

Young Boy Held on Two Charges—Police Charge Him With Driving Car That Struck Four Year Old Girl on Friday.

An adjournment of one week was taken in police court today in the case of Frank Horbocienski, 16 years old, of 135 Gross street, to await the outcome of the injuries sustained by four year old Joan Kenny of Jarrold street, who is in the Kingston City Hospital with a fractured skull sustained when she was struck by an automobile, which the police claim the youth was driving.

The accident occurred on Third avenue and at the time Frank's brother, Stanley, reported to the police that it was his car that had struck the child, who, he said, had run out from behind a parked car.

The police later learned that Stanley was not driving the car at the time and made an investigation which led to the boy's arrest. He is held on two charges, that of driving without a license and of failing to report an accident in which a person was injured.

According to the police, the youth has made a statement that he was driving the car at the time the girl was struck.

Fire Sweeps Famous Beach

Revere, Mass., Oct. 10 (AP).—This city's famous beach was minus three of its principal amusement places today and police were investigating the possibility of connection between the spectacular $300,000 blaze which swept two blocks of attractions and a reported large rum landing on another part of the shore at the same time.

Beachmont section residents declared that shortly before the blaze was discovered, motor boats had been heard off shore and loaded trucks were numerous on the infrequented shore roads.

The theory on which police were proceeding was that the fire might have been started to divert attention from the rum landing. Fire department investigators, however, were inclined to attribute the origin to a carelessly tossed cigarette butt in a retiring room of the Nautical Gardens.

Set Aside Lease Of Teapot Dome

Supreme Court Affirms Decision of Circuit Court of Appeals Cancelling Sinclair's Lease on Naval Oil Reserve.

Was[illegible] Butler.

[illegible] of the eighth circuit [illegible] rendered by Judge [illegible] cancelling the lease and [illegible] grounds of fraud and corruption.

The Supreme [illegible] Teapot Dome lease question [illegible] by its recent decision [illegible] Pan-American cases [illegible] were E. L. Doheny, involved leases and contracts on the Elk Hills naval reserve in California, which the court ordered cancelled.

The decision handed down today covers the civil action end of the Teapot Dome litigation. Sinclair, who is a millionaire and prominent as a sportsman, is to go on trial here next Monday with Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior when the lease was signed, on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the lease.

Justice Butler was severe in his criticism of former Secretary Fall's activities, asserting that the leasing of the naval reserves was primarily for the purpose of using the proceeds for the construction of $100,000,000 worth of storage for the navy on the Atlantic and Pacific instead of depositing the money in the treasury.

The justice declared that there had been no danger of drainage, that Fall knew it and that representation to the contrary was in bad faith but had been used as the basis for making the lease and contracts.

Touching on the government's allegation that Fall received $230,500 in liberty bonds from the Sinclair interests in connection with the leasing, Justice Butler declared the evidence showed Fall was a "faithless public officer", and that the company organized in New York to purchase oil out of which the bond transaction arose was for no "legitimate purpose".

The Teapot Dome lease made by Fall was denounced by the court as having been procured by fraud and corruption.

King Welcomes Legion Delegates

London, Oct. 10 (AP).—To have King George himself ask if everything possible had been done to make their visit enjoyable was the distinction which befell the American Legion "good will party" when it was received at Buckingham Palace today.

Alanson B. Houghton, American ambassador, headed the delegation and presented Howard P. Savage, retiring Legion commander, to King George and Queen Mary. The sovereigns shook hands with Commander Savage. The King said that he hoped that all the Americans had had a good time in England adding with a suspicion of a smile that if they had not he would like to know the reason why.

The biggest fleet of sightseeing busses ever allowed to pass the ornate Buckingham Palace gates took the legionnaires through the fog to their majesties' home shortly before 11 a. m.

Twelve of the big cars rolled across the outer palace yard under the great arch and into the inner court, where the legionnaires alighted.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Oct. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Leith-Ross have returned from Gloucester and are now occupying their studio on Byrdcliffe Road. It is understood that Mr. Leith-Ross had a very successful season, teaching at Gloucester. He has many pupils at that place each summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bentley of Erie, Pa., were here two days last week, leaving on Friday for their home. They had been on a wedding trip—a motor trip—for two weeks, and were in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and northern Massachusetts. Jack's many friends here were glad to see him and Mrs. Bentley.

The Hon. and Mrs. Steven B. Ayres have gone to New York for a visit of about ten days. The new building Mrs. Ayres has built here is now all occupied and is a credit to Woodstock.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new business building, under construction on Rock City Road by the Woodstock Lodge, Inc. It is to be a large building, 114x40. It is stated that it will house a modern baking plant, something this town needs.

Politics is beginning to engage the attention of the voters. The present supervisor, George W. Elwyn, has been renominated by the Republicans, and the Democrats have chosen Frank Happy as their standard bearer. Stuart Jones is running again for road commissioner. He has done well during the past two years, and built much new road.

Error Somewhere

An artist once precipitated a lively controversy when he painted a picture of Pharaoh's daughter discovering the babe Moses. There were no bulrushes in the picture. When critics assailed his accuracy, he asserted that he had made a special trip to Egypt to get the correct local color and found that there were no bulrushes in Egypt.

State Farmers Get Good Prices

Apples Going Up—Eggs Do Better—Cows Are High and Milk Is Higher Than Year Ago.

Apple prices are rising, eggs are selling better than they did last spring and summer, and milk is somewhat higher than it was a year ago, says Dr. G. F. Warren at the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y., commenting on agricultural conditions and the prices of farm products in New York state.

New York's apple crop is less than half of the 1926 crop, but, for the country as a whole, the commercial crop is about sixty per cent of last year. Idaho, Washington and Oregon have about 75 per cent as many apples as in 1926.

Dairy cows are high, because few heifers were raised in the years when milk was very cheap. Cows in New York state are now worth about double pre-war prices. Dairymen can expect better prices for milk for the remainder of this year, and presumably, milk will command good prices every fall until the shortage of cows is made up by heifers now being raised. Past experience indicates that too many heifers will be raised so that a surplus of cows may be expected in a few years.

The low price of eggs last spring seems to have reduced the number of hens so that prices have improved. It is probable that there are still enough hens in the country so that eggs will be cheap next spring. For nine months eggs were cheap compared with the prices of feed, but in September eggs were higher than feed.

MOMBACCUS HEIGHTS.

Mombaccus Heights, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Leonard Van Etten has returned home after spending a few days with her children at Pompton Plains, Toms River, and Lakewood, N. J. While away she attended the fifteenth wedding anniversary of her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Stout of Toms River, who had a day's outing at the beach at Seaside Heights, and visited the Los Angeles in its hangar at Lakehurst. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Harry Smith, of Patiankunk, who has been visiting relatives and friends in New York and New Jersey for the past two weeks, and Mrs. D. E. Giberson of Toms River, who is spending a two weeks' vacation with her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Lennon and family are spending the week with relatives in Newburgh.

A number from this place attended the fair at Grahamsville Friday last.

Several men from this locality have been engaged filling silos and threshing for different parties for the past two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Etten of Bloomington spent a recent Sunday with his parents here.

The Newman family and a party of friends from the city spent part of the Jewish holidays at their summer home here.

Buckles Play Part in Embellishing Costume

Buckles are another new note in jewelry and costume styling. They are often employed to create an ensemble effect in dress and hat, the same buckle trimming appearing on the gown and then being used also as a hat ornament. In this respect, buckles are varying in popularity with the pins and brooches of pearls or rhinestones which have been used for some time as the sole trim of simple hats. Buckles appear in many materials. There is a new composition which resembles marble. This is very good in combinations of black and white, in various shades of blue and particularly in jade green. Sometimes metal makes a mounting for these composition ornaments, or again it is an integral part of the model.

In this type of ornament the modernistic influence is felt, and geometric designs are very popular. Here, too, we see the Chinese influence, which is especially suitable for the jade ornaments. Enamel adds a further charm to these composition buckles. It may match in color or form a contrast.

Cause for Exasperation

"What exasperates me more than anything else about the boobies who differ with me on politics, religion, the money question, the tariff, weather omens and the gulf toward which we are inevitably drifting," said Fuller Gloom, the human hyena, "is that they are so infernally proud of their own idiocy."—Kansas City Star.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

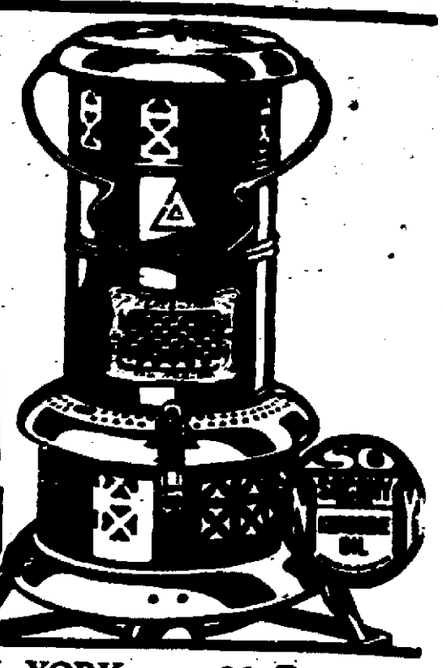

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Suitable Dimensions of Stall for a Dairy Cow

The grain and ensilage manger of the model cow stall is made right on top of the cement floor of the stable. It is two feet wide and the cement sides are six inches high. The front of the stall, the side towards the feeding alley, is five feet high, with a door or space eight inches from the bottom through which to feed grain and ensilage.

The hay manger is formed by nailing a 2 by 4 to the feeding alley front on the side towards the cow, and twenty-eight inches above the grain manger. To this 2 by 4 are nailed four-inch slats projecting back over the cow's head at an angle of forty-five degrees and nailed to another 2 by 4 which is supported by the partitions between the cows. These slats are three feet long.

The bed for the cow, and which keeps her absolutely clean, is formed by placing a 2 by 4 edgeways across the stall just in front of the cow's hind feet when she stands naturally, eating from the grain manger. This space between the manger and this 2 by 4 just in front of her hind feet should be filled in with earth or matted with straw even with the top of the 2 by 4. When the cow lies down she naturally steps ahead and lies upon this clean bed. That is the reason she never is dirty in the stable.

"WHITE SNOBBERY".

Senator Bingham of Connecticut is quoted as saying that "arrogant snobbery" and "assumption of superiority" on the part of white men are to blame for the "revolt of the Orient"—the anti-foreign movement in China and the demand for independence in the Philippines. Senator Bingham says that in the parks of Shanghai—on Chinese soil and in a city where Chinese pay 60 per cent of the taxes—there are signs reading, "No Chinamen or dogs allowed", and that the Army and Navy Club in Manila permits no native Filipino to enter its doors, not even Osmena, president of the Philippine Senate, or Quezon, speaker of the House, and that for this reason he (Senator Bingham) refused to be the guest of honor at a banquet within its "sacred portals".

No doubt such "white snobbery" is plentiful everywhere in the Orient, but to imagine that this is the only or even the chief reason of the desire of the Filipinos for independence is manifestly absurd. If the truth could be known, it would no doubt be found that Orientals are as proud and in their hearts are as ready to despise the people of another distinct race as are Europeans or even Americans. Barring abnormal exceptions, such instinctive race prejudice—the barrier erected by nature to prevent wholesale mongrelization—may be regarded as universal, and as pronounced in the supposed inferior as in the supposed superior races. Senator Bingham's protest is just and timely, however, and is worth serious attention not only by government officials in Washington and London but by foreign mission societies and the heads of foreign business concerns. For the Connecticut Senator denounced the harmful "snobbery" of the white missionaries and business men as well as that of the American and British government representatives.

SAYS WET TICKET CAN WIN.

Now that he is "out of politics," after thirty-two years of public service, Oscar W. Underwood, former United States Senator, can afford to say what he really thinks without anxious consideration of the possible effect on the ballot-box. And what he now says, in such complete freedom, is no less than the following: "The Democratic party came into being as the great liberal party. When it has been faithful to its dedication it has been triumphant. A Democratic nominee in 1928, standing foursquare and honestly for a Constitutional amendment to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, will rally the liberal forces of this country to his banner and he will be elected."

Whatever may be thought of this, and of course there will be contrary opinions, it is likely to be very generally conceded —with a few dry Democratic exceptions —that logic is on Mr. Underwood's side when he adds that "a dry Democrat opposing a dry Republican can get nowhere." This is self-evident because prohibition is the one issue that excites general interest and anything like real partisanship. There are other issues, old issues such as the tariff, State rights as opposed to ever-increasing centralization, taxation matters, etc., and a dry Democrat can oppose a dry Republican in such connections; but, however important such issues are in themselves, they may be accurately described as faded, so far as general public interest is concerned. In this particular Mr. Underwood undoubtedly sees the situation as it is. For the rest, it is interesting to find that he does not attribute the failure of enforcement either to bad official management or to lack of zeal, but to impossibility inherent in the very conditions, and that he looks upon the 18th amendment as "the greatest legislative mistake in the history of our country."

MAGRUDER'S CRITICISM.

It has been reported from Washington that Secretary Wilbur is disposed to discipline Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard, for charging the Navy with extravagance and mismanagement in a recently published magazine article, without having previously submitted the article to the Department for censorship. It is true that the Rear Admiral used some strong language, as when he declared that the navy officials "are spending money like hell and getting little for it." But from the point of view of the public the really important question is as to whether there is basis for the charge. If there is, some little strong language would seem to be demanded in order to bring attention to the matter.

Apart from the sample of flaming rhetoric quoted, Rear Admiral Magruder's article is said to be devoid of sensationalism, to be not only well reasoned but conservative, and to aim merely to show that at present the navy is over-organized with an overhead out of all proportion to the work accomplished and the expense involved. We may well believe that the 500 naval officers stationed at Washington resent the critic's intimation that they are engaged mostly in handling voluminous red tape and would like to see him disciplined, but a searching inquiry into the real conditions would be more to the point.

A doughboy from the south, who won the Croix de Guerre in the A. E. F., afterward enlisted in France's Foreign Legion, but found the campaign in Syria so rigorous that in desperation he deserted. A year ago he was sentenced to eight years at hard labor, but in tribute to the visiting Legionnaires the French government granted him a pardon and he will soon be seen again in his home town of Biloxi, Miss., where he will doubtless find no quarrel with a quiet life after all that he has been through.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY

James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

POSTURE AND ILLNESS.

A friendly controversy is now being waged between United States and British physicians as to whether round shoulders, protruding abdomen, round back and sway back, are the cause of illness, or whether illness causes these wrong positions of the body.

In the United States faulty standing and sitting are thought to cause the illness, and in Great Britain they think that illness causes the faulty positions.

As you know there are four curves in the back or spinal column; one curving forward from back of head to half way between shoulders, then the curve backward at shoulders, then the curve forward at small of back, and the curve backward again over the huge gluteal muscles on which we sit.

These curves are natural curves, and are intended to absorb some of the shock from walking or other work done by legs or feet, which otherwise would be transmitted to the brain, and cause headache or other nerve disturbance. These curves form a sort of spring, which makes the back more resistent than a straight column or tube.

Further, our engineers tell us that a tube, with a double bend in it, will sustain more weight than a straight tube.

However, if the tube is bent too much in one direction, and not enough in another, weakness results.

Therefore for proper posture these curves should nearly balance one another.

In regard to the controversy there is no question but that faulty standing and sitting will help to exaggerate these curves, and so less chest room and dropping of abdominal organs will result, causing illness.

On the other hand almost any illness will cause weakness, including weakness of the muscles, and so there will be a dragging or slouching of the body.

So both nations are right in their statements.

Now what about the proper position standing?

You will remember the commands "Head up, chest out, chin slightly drawn back, abdomen slightly drawn in, thighs slightly drawn back and weight of body on balls of feet." And the biggest factor in obtaining a good carriage is to develop the abdominal muscles. Trying to touch the toes with knees straight, twenty times night and morning, or lying on back and raising legs almost to a right angle with knees straight, will "tighten up" the abdominal muscles and give a good carriage.

Similarly in sitting, chair should support lower back, and feet should be on floor, your thigh and leg forming two sides of a square.

An erect carriage helps to ensure health, and a bright outlook on life.

"Haunted" by an Odor

A Monmouthshire farmhouse here is "haunted" by an odor of violets, says the Newport (England) correspondent of the Associated Press.

An overpowering perfume of freshly-gathered violets fills one of the rooms to such an extent that the tenant has had to vacate it, and although the floorboards have been examined and the walls distempered the odor persists. The house is nearly three hundred years old.

A legend has been unearthed of a girl who was stabbed on her wedding morning by a jilted lover, and the story says that she was killed while arranging a bowl of violets.

The farmer discredits the tale, but careful investigation leaves the mystery unsolved.

Would Scrap Gibraltar

Surrounded by the world's oldest civilizations, the Mediterranean yet has never been completely explored for its fauna. This is peculiar owing to the virtual separation of the Mediterranean waters from those of the Atlantic because of the shallowness of the strait of Gibraltar. A Danish hydrographer who has made a life study of the Mediterranean proposes that Gibraltar, which forms a natural barrier for marine currents, be tunneled or blasted away so as to establish better circulation between the ocean and the sea. A bigger channel, he believes, would lead to phenomenal changes in the Mediterranean bed.

Labor Migration Is Toward Europe

Quota Restriction Law Followed by Reversal of Tide of Labor Migration—Net Annual Loss of 20,000 Laborers Shown by Conference Board Study.

New York, Oct. 10.—The tide of labor migration, that is of common or unskilled industrial labor from Europe to the United States since the enactment of the quota restriction law, has not only ceased, but actually has been reversed, according to an analysis of immigration trends made by the National Industrial Conference Board, 247 Park avenue, New York. Whereas before the war, our annual net gain of common labor, including farm laborers from Europe, averaged about 260,000 for the period 1910-14, the United States since 1924 has been losing annually an average of about 20,000 more of this group to European countries than we have received from them.

Balancing all immigration against emigration, our annual net gain of common and farm labor from all sources, including Europe, has averaged about 25,000 a year for the past three years, and has depended wholly on immigration from Mexico and Canada and, to a negligible degree, to other countries not subject to quota restriction. Labor immigration from Europe consists roughly of half unskilled industrial and half farm labor, but in all about three times as many common laborers have returned to Europe than have come from Europe since 1924, while farm laborers generally have remained. The net loss annually of approximately 20,000 laborers to European countries is the result of both curtailed immigration and of increased emigration, and represents an average annual exodus of about 25,000 alien common laborers to Europe, and a gain of about 15,000 farm labdrers from Europe. Only a small proportion of the combined immigration from Mexico and Canada consists of farm labor, averaging less than 4,000 a year for the 1925-27 period, of which Mexico contributes only about 300 annually. Thus these two countries, not subject to quota restriction, have become our chief source of supply for common industrial labor, of which Mexico and Canada combined since 1924 have sent us an average of from 33,000 upwards a year. Most of these apparently remain, an average of less than 2,000 Mexican and Canadian laborers having left the United States annually during the past three years.

It is pointed out by the Conference Board as significant that indications are that only a negligible portion of the present supply of immigrant common labor finds its way to the industrial centers of the country or directly affects, if at all, the industrial labor market. Of the Mexican immigrants, who with Canadians constitute nearly all the immigration from non-quota countries, it is found that nearly nine-tenths during 1925 and 1926 gave as their destination Arizona, California and Texas, leaving less than 4,000 for the rest of the country.

The influx of common and farm labor during the past fiscal year, including immigration from Europe, has been heavier, and emigration from the United States less than the average in the two preceding years.

FINDS YOUNG PEOPLE AS GOOD AS FORBEARS

Kingston, Oct. 5, 1927.

To the editor of The Freeman.

Sir:

We hear a lot concerning the fearful degeneracy of the times, particularly in reference to our young men and young women; not only in morals but in their dislike of the higher grade of literature.

The first claim is "rot," and has few if any facts to sustain it. There always have been fools and they aren't all dead yet. There are some "young things" of both sexes who want to be thought "smart," but the majority are as pure as any who preceded them. Some of the young "fairies" go to the limit in dress, but I think that this, coupled with the free mingling of the sexes, is a great preservative of virtue and morality. They will learn that we most desire the things we do not possess, that beauty is pretty much imagination, the things we cannot see, and I am certain that Mother Eve was far more attractive to Adam after she had donned her fig-leaf apron than when she was a Venus of Melus. We are also told that our young folks delight in "leg-shows" and sex plays in the movies. Most of the audience is composed of "bald-heads", and when the movies put on pictures of historical events and characters, natural scenery, and our marvelous inventions, the house is crowded.

As to the nature of the literature mostly in demand I wrote to one of the largest libraries in the country for its opinion. They replied that the generation now growing up are reading the old standards as much as they ever read; that they cannot supply the demand for Dickens, Scott, Hugo, Thackery, Kipling, Stevenson, Hardy, and the like; and the popular works on scientific subjects.

I write this because only the other day I heard a clergyman, bemoaning the present day ignorance and sinfulness, based mainly on the fact that the young wouldn't attend church, preferring the movies and "joy-riding". I was tempted to suggest that perhaps they weren't "stuck" on his sermons. Evolution is a fact, not only physically, but morally and intellectually; we are as good in every way, if not better than our forefathers, and I am certain that, as bad as I am, I am at least a slight improvement on some of mine.

ADMIRER MAY BUY INGERSOLL BIRTHPLACE

Penn Yann, Oct. 10 (AP).—An anonymous admirer of Col. Robert Ingersoll has offered to purchase his birthplace in Dresden, Yates county.

Since 1921 the old Presbyterian Manse, where Ingersoll was born, has been used as a civic center, but last summer the house was closed because of lack of funds. For the last month a caretaker has been at the manse a part of each day, and a prominent citizen of Central New York, whose name has been withheld, proposes to take over the property, endow it and operate it.

Negotiations are being carried on between the proposed buyer and Mrs. Eva Ingersoll Brown, in whom the title to the place is vested.

WAYS WITH PEAS

Peas are among our most nutritious vegetables. Belonging to the proteins they take the place of meat in the diet.

Green Pea Soup.—Take one pint of green peas, a quart of stock (chicken is best), a small bunch of parsley—mint if liked, two tablespoonfuls of butter and a teaspoonful of salt. Cook all together and put through a sieve, then reheat. Season with butter, salt and pepper and serve hot.

Pea Souffle.—Cook a pint of peas until soft, put them through a sieve, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, a pint of milk, the yolks of three eggs. Season with salt and pepper and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake twenty minutes.

Salmon and Pea Salad.—Flake a can of salmon, removing the skin and bones. Take an equal amount of cooked peas and mix well with the salmon. Serve on lettuce with a boiled dressing to which a sour pickle has been added, chopped into bits.

Combination Salad.—Take one cupful of peanuts cut into bits, two cupfuls of peas, one-half cupful of olives, a bit of chopped onion and mayonnaise dressing with seasoning of salt and pepper.

Peas and Peppers.—Take the tops from six even-sized green peppers, remove the seeds and soak in strong brine overnight. Moisten with the liquor from a can of peas, fill the shells with one-half cupful of minced meat, one cupful of peas, one-half cupful of bread crumbs, a little onion juice, salt and pepper to taste. Bake until the peppers are tender.

Creamed peas served round a steamed salmon loaf makes a fine dish. Cook the salmon loaf in a small bread pan, turn out on a hot platter and pour the peas around the loaf.

Peas with peanuts and chopped sour pickles, adding a good dressing, makes a piquant salad, well liked.

Shoulder Line Slopes in New Women's Coats

Further evidence that women's clothes are getting away from mannishness and becoming more and more feminine is given by the Paris styles in autumn coats, points out Bettina Bedwell in a fashion article in Liberty.

"The most novel and significant detail of the new kind of coat smart women are wearing is the shoulder line," Miss Bedwell explains. "It is evident that the coat is shouldering a new kind of chic. Removing the collar makes the shoulder line more important. Many new coats show a shoulder line that slopes in the Victorian manner and avoids the square line that has dominated for so long a time, aping the athletic contours of masculine shoulders. Some fashionable women, earlier in the season, wore coats with little half-capes over the shoulders, which were the forerunners of the present drooping-shoulder-line coats."

Spring Water for City

Royal spring, at Georgetown, Ky., said to be one of the largest of its kind in the world, was named in 1775. The water bursts from a high bluff of limestone rock, flows through the west end of the town and empties into the Elkhorn river, nearly a mile from its source. Georgetown, now with a population of about 5,000, gets its entire water supply from this spring and has done so for many years. At one time a woolen mill, a grist mill and several other establishments were operated by water power supplied by this spring.—Kansas City Star.

Tinsel Weaves to Be Winter Mode

Gold and Silver Effects to Feature Silks, According to Prediction.

Tinsel weaves or gold and silver worked into the pattern in silks have great importance for winter, according to a Paris fashion writer in the New York Herald-Tribune. In one the colored pattern has a gold surface which discloses a snake pattern in certain lights. Two colors or changeable effects are more important than ever, and fine floral patterns and designs in velvets and lames are patterned for frocks, while big patterns are for evening wraps. "Velours diaphane" is Bianchini's new sheer velvet. "Vestale," in silk and wool, is something like a faille, while "cotele feffe" is akin to "flaminga," but with heavier ridges. "Turiah" reminds one of a satin-back marocain, with marked waves in its ridged surface on the rougher side, and "troubadour" is another ridged fabric in silk and wool, which looks like a cross between ottoman and a fine pique.

In one of the lames the design is in conventional leaves, which form small lozenges and group to make big ones which alternate in gold and silver. Fruit patterns are developed to alternate with those in floral designs. Degrade velvets as from white to black are matched by a moire patterned silk with satin back. Both white and gold or silver and black and gold are important color combinations in the tinsels, while blues and silver are shown for youthful evening wear. Gold threads make the trousers stripe patterns in silks.

Plain woolens treated with metal, especially gold, many jerseys, scratched and velvety woolens and new weaves and patterns in "kashatulla" are important in the Rodier collection of woolens, while the kasha family has grown considerably and printed "fusilkasha" is one of the important media for winter. "Vella diallic" names one of the soft, loose velvety weaves, with the nap slightly scratched. "Lissicrepella" is lighter than crepella, while "kashavelline" is smoother and thicker than the velvety vella diallic. "Givabure" is a coarse diagonal weave for sports clothes, often in two colors and at least two tones. "Vellor angora" is gold on one side and velvety angora on the other, and "kasha girror" is the same on both sides, shot with gold. A variation of this shows the gold in marbled effect.

Kashatulla is worked with flowers in gold and in tones darker than the background. "Kashatullor" implies much gold in the pattern, and "vella kashatulla" suggests that one side is smooth and velvety. Double weaves, made very loose in kashatulla, look as if a thread of one color had been thrown over another in a ring which suggests hand knitting. Jerseys or "djersas" are featherweight in lightness, combined with gold, made in lacy patterns, fashioned with many types of irregular stripes, as in two tones of green with white or in two tones of blue. A thicker and wider rib in jersey is called "djersakashabure." Solid gold jersey looks like coat-of-mail and "zebror djersakasha" reminds one of a zebra, and other patterns are watered in effects. Rodier's new things are thicker and look like pearls designed in two tones and plain colors.

Charming Tailleur That Is Ideal for Traveling

This smart beige and brown checked tailleur makes an ideal traveling costume. The smart eton jacket is enhanced with a vest of golden brown satin which forms a semi-girdle. A sable scarf is worn with the outfit, and a hat of earth brown felt, which follows the off-the-face tendency of fall chapeaux.

Women's Voice Stronger

Angles Prove as Valuable as Curves in Bringing About Effectiveness of Design

New York.—One might almost believe that an architectural draftsman could turn dress designer at a moment's notice and be assured of success. So many costumes are a matter of sharp angles, of geometrical calculation, apparently, that the old standards of straight lines with a minimum of decoration seem unimaginative, to say the least.

Trimmings are applied on the bias; tucks and all manner of inserts or appliques go off at a tangent. All of this, however, seems to be justified, since there is no question about these devices being slenderizing in effect, especially since bold contrasts of color emphasize the broken lines.

From the neck-line, which often has the nonchalant outline of a draped scarf, to the hem, which is invariably irregular, designers have hit upon the principle that the unexpected and the unusual is what we crave. Tiers that spiral about the figure, applied contrasts of color or fabric that intensify angles, have won admiration. Under a straight-line coat—for there are still such, although they are in the minority—one is never quite sure what may appear, it being the idea to affect a contrast and to inject color and decoration, even though one couturier sponsors black on inconspicuous lines for street wear.

The velvet, fur-trimmed coat spells elegance, and under it may be a dress of velvet or one in which other fabrics unite to create the impression of a carefully chosen ensemble. While many dresses are nothing if not modernistic, others have a strong Persian, Egyptian, or other Oriental suggestion, due largely to richly blended colors and to an artful use of embroidery, often executed in metal.

Tight and Full Sleeves on Winter Style Program

Like it or not, you probably will wear sleeves next winter even in Bermuda, Nassau, Florida or southern California. Only the sleeves for those warm climates will be short sleeves. In the North the tight sleeves seem destined to remain as well as the full sleeve which is caught at the wrist. The sleeves will be the landing field of a multitude of embroideries.

Sweaters, Jackets and Jumpers for Fall Wear

Sweaters, sleeveless jackets and jumpers—these are among the most popular dress accessories for fall. The cardigan, with the front striped in varying lengths of different colors and the back plain, is most attractive. The sleeveless jacket, which combines duvetyn and leather, is splendid for autumn weather. The woolen sweater for fall is plain. The roll collar usually is in three contrasting colors.

Improper Heels

Heels that are too narrow, too high, or incorrectly pitched, frequently cause weakened ankles, a wobbly walk, strained muscles, serious sprains and other injuries incident to slipping, twisting and falling. The weight of the body is thrown upon the toes, if the feet are jammed into the fore part of the shoe, causing bruises, corns, weakened and crushed arches, and bent toes.

The Coffee Tastes So Good Because The Flavor is Roasted In

GOOD coffee! The very thought of it, fragrant and tasteful, makes one long for a steaming cup. But there are so many coffee-making failures! How can a housewife be sure of good coffee every time—coffee which really brings to the table that ravishing aroma you smell round a roasting oven?

The Dwinell-Wright Company, producers and roasters of White House Coffee, have found the answer. As a result of 70 years of coffee-roasting experience, they have developed a coffee-roasting process that roasts the flavor in.

Special methods of control advance the roasting of White House Coffee without allowing the precious coffee oils to evaporate. These oils, developing in the "roast," produce the mellow fragrance and flavor that make good coffee so satisfying.

In the White House ovens, the natural coffee goodness is roasted to a definite "peak"—just enough to perfect the full coffee taste, but not enough to drive the life of the coffee out of the beans. Thus the flavor is roasted into White House Coffee and not out into the air.

If you want to serve coffee that tastes as good as fine coffee smells when it's roasting, order White House Coffee. The Flavor is Roasted In!

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

ELIZABETH'S BIRD

Daddy had heard that afternoon the story of a very tame canary bird.

A Little Piece of Apple.

The little girl who owned the bird, and who was a friend of Nick and Nancy, had told Daddy about her little pet.

So when Daddy got home in the evening he was ready at once to tell the story of the little bird.

"I am going to tell you about the little bird Elizabeth has," he said.

"Her daddy gave him to her several weeks ago, and he is just as tame as tame can be.

"She has named him Bubsie, and he knows his name, too, for whenever she calls 'Bubsie!' he replies with a little:

"'Peep, peep!'

"Every morning, bright and early, he wakes up and begins to sing the most beautiful songs.

"He sings so steadily that Elizabeth says it is a surprise to her that he doesn't burst his little throat.

"After Elizabeth gets up she always gives him a little piece of apple before she begins her breakfast.

"She puts it on her finger between two wires of the cage, and he hops right over on his little bar and takes it from her finger.

"The next thing is his bath, which he takes soon after breakfast.

"He loves that.

"He spatters the water about and has just the best time in the world.

"He acts as if it were the most wonderful game. After his bath he has a treat of delicious lettuce to eat, and then he sits in the sun and smoothes down his feathers.

"In his cage there is a swing, and he swings on it and hops from one perch to the other.

"In fact, he has a fine romp. He usually does this right after his bath, for then he feels so energetic.

"In the afternoons Elizabeth lets him out of his cage. Of course she sees first that there are no windows up or doors ajar before she opens the door of the cage.

"When the cage door is open Bubsie flies out and makes a tour of the room.

"How he does enjoy flying around and perching back of the different pictures and on the window-sill.

"The thing he likes more than anything else is to play with Elizabeth.

"He perches on her shoulder and walks around on her hand.

"And he loves to tease her, too, for if there are any flowers in the room he will fly over to them, peck at them and then begin munching at them.

"Then he won't let Elizabeth catch him. He thinks this is a huge joke, and he always flies to some high spot in the room and begins to sing.

If There Are Any Flowers.

"Elizabeth told me any number of tales of the tricks that he does, but she told me to invite my Nick and Nancy to come and see her, and then she promises you that Bubsie will entertain you."

"Oh, that's fine!" said Nancy. "Do you suppose we can go tomorrow?"

"Yes, I think so," said Daddy, "for, as a matter of fact, I believe I told her to expect you both tomorrow."

"Hurrah!" shouted the children. "You always do think of such nice things for us to do."

Birds "Steal" Ride

Which bird first found out that the airplane was a labor-saver for birds will never be known, but he must have been a veritable Columbus among his fellows. His daring feat in perching on the shoulders of the huge, whirring plane was quickly imitated, and today thousands of his kind perch like feathered stowaways on the airliners' wings.

The planes that fly across the deserts of northern Nevada in the teeth of the prevailing north wind are most favored by the voyagers. They save a long and tedious flight, and at the end of the journey the travelers arrive fresh and unruffled, with nothing to pay.

They show no fear of the birdmen in the cockpit of the plane, recognizing in them fellow argonauts of the air.

Thinking While Asleep

Little Betty, aged three, woke up one morning with the announcement that she had had a dream. When asked what a dream was she quickly replied, "Dreamin' is finkin' while you're asleep."

Advertising handshakes

"MRS. BROWN, permit me to introduce an old friend, Mrs. Jones."

WHEN the formalities of introduction have been completed, an acquaintance has been made. If Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Jones meet often enough, the acquaintance may ripen into a warm friendship.

ADVERTISING is like that. The printed page introduces you to an article of merchandise and you become acquainted with it. Through the advertisements you meet frequently. Little by little, you learn that your new acquaintance possesses qualities that you admire—that it has hosts of devoted friends. Soon you will buy, and your mere acquaintance develop into a real enduring friendship.

ADVERTISING has made and is making millions of friends for worthy commodities, for advertising tells the truth and keeps on telling it. Advertising is the mutual friend that introduces you to merchandise worth knowing—and buying.

Keep a kindly eye on the advertisements.
They are steadfast friends.

Will You HELP?

Fire is the greatest criminal in all history. He kills, burns and destroys without mercy. He blots out thousands of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property each year.

Will you help capture this criminal—tie him—bind him—run him out of town? This is Fire Prevention Week. Now is the time for all of us to band together for the protection of our homes, our places of business, and the lives of our families.

Every burnt match that we break, every cigarette that we stamp out, every bit of rubbish that we clean up is another knot in the rope that binds the Fire Demon —another blow to the Demon's pride in his dastardly accomplishments.

We are publishing this advertisement as a contribution to the cause of fire prevention. It is a worthy cause—one that deserves the whole-hearted support of every property owner, every citizen.

A Severe Critic

He had bought an old violin from a second-hand dealer, and on arriving home decided to try the instrument out.

He found his piece of music, and soon the air was filled with the results of his flying bow.

Hearing the unusual sounds, his Scots landlady suddenly appeared at the foot of the stairs.

"Mr. Hain," she shouted, her fingers in her ears. "What are ye daein'?"

"Playing a violin I've just bought," returned the boarder.

"Guidness!" exclaimed the other. "For an awfu' moment I thocht ye were shiftin' the bed, ye ken."—London Answers.

Music and Poetry

Byron had no ear for music, and Rosetti found the art "cool unto the sense of pain." Shelley had a voice it is said, like a peacock's, and Tennyson had only verbal music in him. Sir Humphrey Davy had a fine perception of the beautiful in nature, but had so poor an ear for sound that he could not even catch the simple air of the British national anthem. He was also deficient in time. For while a member of a volunteer corps he could never keep step.

Amendments to Constitution

State of New York
Department of State
Albany, September 15, 1927.

PURSUANT to the provisions of section eighty of the Election Law, the following proposed amendments to the constitution, designated as Proposed Amendments numbers One to Nine inclusive, will be submitted to the voters of this State for approval at the General Election on November eighth, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven.

ROBERT MOSES,
Secretary of State.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

Section 1. Resolved, That the constitution be amended by adding a new article to follow article four to be article four-a to read as follows:

ARTICLE IV-A

§ 1. On or before the fifteenth day of October in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-eight and in each year thereafter the head of each department of the state government, except the legislature and judiciary, shall submit to the governor itemized estimates of appropriations to meet the financial needs of such department, including a statement in detail of all moneys for which any general or special appropriation is desired at the ensuing session of the legislature, classified according to relative importance and in such form and with such explanation as the governor may require. Copies of such estimates shall be simultaneously furnished to the designated representatives of the appropriate committees of the legislature for their information.

The governor, after hearings thereon, at which he may require the attendance of heads of departments and their subordinates, shall revise such estimates according to his judgment. The representatives aforesaid of the committees of the legislature shall be invited to attend such hearings, and under regulations to be provided by law shall be entitled to make inquiry in respect to the estimates and the revision thereof.

Itemized estimates of the financial needs of the legislature certified by the presiding officer of each house and of the judiciary certified by the comptroller shall be transmitted to the governor on or before said fifteenth day of October for inclusion in the budget without revision but with such recommendation as he may think proper.

§ 2. On or before the fifteenth day of January next succeeding (except in the case of a newly elected governor and then on or before the first day of February) he shall submit to the legislature a budget containing a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues. It shall contain all the estimates so revised or certified and clearly itemized, and shall be accompanied by a bill or bills for all proposed appropriations and reappropriations; it shall show the estimated revenues for the ensuing fiscal year and the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of the current fiscal year together with the measures of taxation, if any, which the governor may propose for the increase of the revenues. It shall be accompanied by a statement of current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus or deficit of the state; statements of the debts and funds of the state; an estimate of its financial condition as of the beginning and end of the ensuing fiscal year; and a statement of revenues and expenditures for the two fiscal years next preceding said year in form suitable for comparison. The governor may before final action by the legislature thereon, and not more than thirty days after submission thereof, amend or supplement the budget; he may also with the consent of the legislature, submit such amendment or a supplemental bill at any time before the adjournment of the legislature.

A copy of the budget and of any amendments or additions thereto shall be forthwith transmitted by the governor to the comptroller.

§ 3. The governor and the heads of departments shall have the right, and it shall be the duty of the heads of departments when requested by either house of the legislature, to appear and be heard in respect to the budget during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relevant thereto. The procedure for such appearance and inquiries shall be provided by law. The legislature may not alter an appropriation bill submitted by the governor except to strike out or reduce items therein, but it may add thereto items of appropriation provided that such additions are stated separately and distinctly from the original items of the bill and refer each to a single object or purpose; none of the restrictions of this provision, however, shall apply to appropriations for the legislature or judiciary. Such a bill when passed by both houses shall be a law immediately without further action by the governor, except that appropriations for the legislature and judiciary and separate items added to the governor's bills by the legislature shall be subject to his approval as provided in section nine of article four.

§ 4. Neither house shall consider further appropriations until the appropriation bills proposed by the governor shall have been finally acted on by both houses; nor shall such further appropriations be then made except by separate bills each for a single work or object, which bills shall be subject to the governor's approval as provided in section nine of article four. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the governor from recommending that one or more of his proposed bills be passed in advance of the others to supply the immediate needs of government or to meet an emergency.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO

Section 1. Resolved, That section ten of article eight of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 10. No county, city, town or village shall hereafter give any money or property, or loan its money or credit to or in aid of any individual, association or corporation, or become directly or indirectly the owner of stock in, or bonds of, any association or corporation; nor shall any such county, city, town or village be allowed to incur any indebtedness except for county, city, town or village purposes. This section shall not prevent such county, city, town or village from making such provision for the aid or support of its poor as may be authorized by law. No county or city shall be allowed to become indebted for any purpose or in any manner to an amount which including existing indebtedness, shall exceed ten per centum of the assessed valuation of the real estate of such county or city subject to taxation, as it appeared by the assessment rolls of said county or city on the last assessment for state or county taxes prior to the incurring of such indebtedness; and all indebtedness in excess of such limitation, except such as now may exist, shall be absolutely void except as herein otherwise provided. No county or city whose present indebtedness exceeds ten per centum of the assessed valuation of its real estate subject to taxation, shall be allowed to become indebted in any further amount until such indebtedness shall be reduced within such limit. This section shall not be construed to prevent the issuing of certificates of indebtedness or revenue bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes for amounts actually contained or to be contained in the taxes for the year when such certificates or revenue bonds are issued and payable out of such taxes; nor to prevent the city of New York from issuing bonds to be redeemed out of the tax levy for the year next succeeding the year of their issue, provided that the amount of such bonds which may be issued in any one year in excess of the limitations herein contained shall not exceed one-tenth of one per centum of the assessed valuation of the real estate of said city subject to taxation. All certificates of indebtedness or revenue bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes, which are not retired within five years after their date of issue, and any debt hereafter incurred by any portion or part of a city, if there shall be any such debt, shall be included in ascertaining the power of the city to become otherwise indebted; except that debts heretofore or hereafter incurred by any city to provide for the supply of water, shall not be so included; and except that debts not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of ten million dollars, heretofore or hereafter incurred by any city with a population of not less than two hundred and fifty thousand and not more than one million, and except that debts not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of five million dollars heretofore or hereafter incurred by any city with a population of not less than one hundred and seventy-five thousand and not more than two hundred and fifty thousand, for so much of the cost and expense of any public improvement as may be required by the ordinance or other local legislative law therein assessing the same to be raised by assessment upon local property or territory, shall not be so included; and except further that any debt hereafter incurred by the city of New York for a public improvement owned or to be owned by the city, which yields to the city current net revenue, after making any necessary allowance for repairs and maintenance for which the city is liable, in excess of the interest on said debt and of the annual installments necessary for its amortization may be excluded in ascertaining the power of said city to become otherwise indebted, provided that a sinking fund for its amortization shall have been established and maintained and that the indebtedness shall not be so excluded during any period of time when the revenue aforesaid shall not be sufficient to equal the said interest and amortization installments, and except further that any indebtedness heretofore incurred by the city of New York for any rapid transit or dock investment may be so excluded proportionately to the extent to which the current net revenue received by said city therefrom shall meet the interest and amortization installments thereof, provided that any increase in the debt incurring power of the city of New York which shall result from the exclusion of debts heretofore incurred shall be available only for the acquisition or construction of properties to be used for rapid transit or dock purposes. The legislature shall prescribe the method by which and the terms and conditions under which the amount of any debt incurred by the city of New York for a revenue producing improvement to be so excluded shall be determined, and no such debt shall be excluded except in accordance with the determination so prescribed. The legislature may in its discretion confer appropriate jurisdiction on the appellate division of the supreme court in the first judicial department for the purpose of determining the amount of any debt to be so excluded. No indebtedness of a city valid at the time of its inception shall thereafter become invalid by reason of the operation of any of the provisions of this section. Whenever the boundaries of any city are the same as those of a county, or when any city shall include within its boundaries more than one county, the power of any county wholly included within such city to become indebted shall cease, but the debt of the county, heretofore existing, shall not, for the purpose of this section, be reckoned as a part of the city debt. The amount hereafter to be raised by tax for county or city purposes, in any county containing a city of over one hundred thousand inhabitants, or in any such city of this state, in addition to providing for the principal and interest of the county or city debt, shall not in the aggregate exceed in any one year two per centum of the assessed valuation of the real and personal estate of such county or city, to be ascertained as prescribed in this section in respect to county or city debt.

§ 2. Resolved, That article eight of the constitution be amended by adding a new section to follow section ten, to be section ten-a, to read as follows:

§ 10-a. Notwithstanding any of the limitations prescribed by the preceding section, debts may be incurred by the city of New York after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, for the construction or equipment, or both, of new rapid transit railroads not exceeding the sum of three hundred million dollars, and such debts shall not be included in computing the debt limit of such city for the purpose of ascertaining the power of such city to become otherwise indebted.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE

Section 1. Resolved, That section fourteen of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 14. The legislature may authorize by law the creation of a debt or debts of the state, not exceeding in the aggregate three hundred million dollars, to provide moneys for the elimination, under state supervision, of railroad crossings at grade within the state, at the expense of the state, railroad companies, counties and cities, as hereinafter provided. Of the expense of a grade crossing elimination to which any of the proceeds of such a debt are applied, fifty per centum shall be borne by the railroad company. The remaining fifty per centum shall be borne by the state and the county in which the crossing is located, or by the state and the city in which it is located if the city contain two or more counties; except that if so provided by law, such remaining fifty per centum of the expense of elimination of a grade crossing in any other city shall be borne by the state, the county and such city. The proportions of the expense of a grade crossing elimination to be borne by the state and county, state and city, or state, county and city, under the provisions of this section, shall be determined by or pursuant to law. Laws shall be enacted to provide, so far as practicable, for repayment to the state of moneys advanced in aid of railroad companies, counties and cities, at such times, in such manner and with interest at such rate, that the state shall be able to pay when due the portion of the state debt equal to the proceeds which shall have been so advanced, and interest thereon. The provisions of this article, not inconsistent with this section, relating to the issuance of bonds for a debt or debts of the state and the maturity and payment thereof, shall apply to a state debt or debts created pursuant to this section; except that the law authorizing the contracting of such debt or debts shall take effect without submission to the people pursuant to section four of this article. The aggregate amount of a state debt or debts which may be created pursuant to this section, as hereby amended, shall not exceed the difference between the amount of the debt or debts heretofore created or authorized by law, under the former provisions of this section, and the sum of three hundred million dollars; and the legislature, by law, may authorize or require a county to bear all or part of the portion of the expense of any such crossing elimination, heretofore begun or authorized, which was imposed by former provisions of this section on a city, town or village therein.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR

*Resolved, That section six of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 6. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars. The members of either house shall also receive the sum of one dollar for every ten miles they shall travel in going to and returning from their place of meeting, once in each session on the most usual route. Senators, when the senate alone is convened in extraordinary session, or when serving as members of the court for the trial of impeachments, and such members of the assembly, not exceeding nine in number, as shall be appointed managers of an impeachment, shall receive an additional allowance of ten dollars a day.

§ 2. Resolved, That sections four and eight of article four of the constitution be amended to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 4. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature, or the senate only, on extraordinary occasions. At extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration. He shall communicate by message to the legislature at every session the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to it as he shall judge expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of twenty-five thousand dollars, and there shall be provided for his use a suitable and furnished executive residence.

§ 8. The lieutenant-governor shall receive for his services an annual salary of ten thousand dollars, and shall not receive or be entitled to any other compensation, fee or perquisite, for any duty or service he may be required to perform by the constitution or by law.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER FIVE

Section 1. Resolved, That section four of article five of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 4. The head of the executive department shall be the governor. The head of the department of audit and control shall be the comptroller and of the department of law, the attorney-general. The head of the department of education shall be the regents of the university of the state of New York, who shall appoint and at pleasure remove a commissioner of education to be the chief administrative officer of the department. The head of the department of agriculture and markets shall be appointed in a manner to be prescribed by law. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the heads of all other departments and the members of all boards and commissions mentioned in this article, excepting temporary commissions for special purposes, shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate and may be removed by the governor, in a manner to be prescribed by law.

* Words "Section 1" omitted.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER SIX

Section 1. Resolved, That section two of article three of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 2. The senate shall consist of fifty members, except as hereinafter provided. The senators elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six shall hold their offices for two years, and their successors shall be chosen for four years. The assembly shall consist of one hundred and fifty members. The members of assembly elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven shall hold their office for one year, and their successors shall be chosen for two years.

§ 2. Resolved, That section one of article four of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 1. The executive power shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years; a lieutenant governor shall be chosen at the same time, and for the same term. The governor and lieutenant governor elected next preceding the time when this section as hereby amended shall take effect, shall hold office until and including the thirty-first day of December, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and their successors shall be chosen at the general election in that year.

§ 3. Resolved, That section one of article fourteen of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 1. Any amendment or amendments to this constitution may be proposed in the senate and assembly; and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be entered on their journals, and the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature whose assembly shall have been chosen at the next general election of members of assembly, and shall be published for three months previous to the time of making such choice; and if in the legislature whose assembly shall have been so next chosen, as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the legislature to submit each proposed amendment or amendments to the people for approval in such manner and at such times as the legislature shall prescribe; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments by a majority of the electors voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the constitution from and after the first day of January next after such approval.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER SEVEN

Section 1. Resolved, That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway from Saranac lake in Franklin county to Long lake in Hamilton county and thence to Old Forge in Herkimer county by way of Blue Mountain lake and Raquette lake, and nothing shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway in Essex county from Wilmington to the top of Whiteface mountain.

The legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHT

Section 1. Resolved, That section seven of article one of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

§ 7. When private property shall be taken for any public use, the compensation to be made therefor, when such compensation is not made by the state, shall be ascertained by a jury, or by the supreme court with or without a jury, but not with a referee, or by not less than three commissioners appointed by a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law. Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceedings, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. The use of property for the drainage of swamp or agricultural lands is declared to be a public use and general laws may be passed permitting the owner or occupants of swamp or agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions on making just compensation, and such compensation together with the cost of such drainage may be assessed, wholly or partly, against any property benefited thereby; but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes.

The legislature may authorize cities and counties to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. After so much of the land and property has been appropriated for such park, public place, highway or street as is needed therefor, the remainder may be sold or leased.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER NINE

Section 1. Resolved, That article twelve of the constitution be amended by adding thereto a new section to follow section seven, to be section eight, to read as follows:

Deer Season In Ulster County

Extends From November 1 to 15—All Deer Hunters Must Have New Special License and Return Coupon.

Albany, Oct. 10.—Commencing this year every person, and this includes the owners and lessees of lands upon which the animal is taken, must take out a special deer license before he can legally go afield in pursuit of deer. On January 1, 1927, there became operative in New York state a law which provides that no person shall hunt, pursue or kill with a gun any wild deer without first having procured a special deer license. These licenses may be procured from any county, city or town clerk in this state, or they may be procured in the main office of the Conservation Department, or in any of its sub-offices in the principal cities of the state. The fee fixed for a license, if a person be a resident citizen, is $1.25; if a non-resident, $10.50; if an alien, $10.50. An alien, however, must procure his license direct from the Conservation Department.

To each license is attached a coupon which is perforated in such way as to allow the licensee to divide it into four subdivisions. Upon the taking of a deer these divisional parts must be attached to the four quarters of the deer. The coupon marked "duplicate" must be filled out and forwarded to the department by registered mail within ten days after the taking of the deer.

Hunters to Take Out Licenses.

The Conservation Department is urging all deer hunters to take out these licenses and be sure that return of the duplicate tags is made. The department desires to gather data concerning the deer herd which will be the means of determining what is a biologically correct open season for deer in this state and how many deer may safely be removed from the herd each year without bringing about a condition of exhaustion. The new law, the department hopes, will be the means of supplying the data necessary to establish a proper open season. It will be known from the number of licenses sold how many persons hunt deer in the state each year, and as return of coupon must be made, it will be known from these returns how many deer are taken. With this information available little difficulty should be experienced in fixing an open season for deer that not only will be recognized as biologically correct, but which will be acceptable to all persons interested in the preservation of the deer herd of the state.

The Open Season.

The open season this fall for the taking of wild deer having horns not less than three inches, commences October 15th and ends November 15th in the counties of Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Oneida, Oswego, Saratoga, St. Lawrence, Warren and Washington.

In the counties of Ulster, Sullivan, Rensselaer, Delaware, Columbia and Orange, the open season for such deer commences November 1st and ends on November 15th. In Greene county the open season is from November November 1st to November 8th, both dates inclusive.

In Dutchess county the taking of wild deer is allowed from November 1st to November 15th, both dates inclusive. In this county, however, the taking of deer is restricted to owners or lessees of the lands upon which deer are taken and to the members of their immediate families.

There is a special law regulating the taking of wild deer in the towns of Salem, White Creek and Jackson, in Washington county. The taking of these animals in these towns is only allowed from November 7th to November 19th, both dates inclusive.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Very strong reception was experienced during daylight hours on Sunday but most of the time accompanied by a scratchy noise. WJZ hit the high spots with the service from St. George's Church in the late afternoon and the 5:30 concert from WGY was first class. Both volume and scratchy sounds continued in the evening. The Atwater Kent program from WGY was perfect. Western stations were weak, especially WTAM and the Cincinnati stations, but the south was fairly strong and WSM was especially good.

Saturday afternoon reception of the ball game was the best of any of the series. In the evening south and west were very strong and stations received included KRLD, KYW, WBAP, WSB, KWKH and KFQB.

There is much less blooping than a year ago, but one of the worst got on WGY Sunday afternoon and evening and surely did prove his competency as a nuisance.

Developing Language

Custom is the great language maker. If children grew up on a deserted island and had no one to teach them to talk, in all probability they would develop a language of their own, which would serve their purposes. One might point to what we call a "coconut" and say "Awk." And the "Awk!" would mean coconut to him.—Exchange.

SUMMER DEATH RATE OF INFANTS LOW IN STATE.

Health News, the weekly publication of the State Department of Health, in its current issue states that the health record of the state for the month of August stands out because of the exceptionally low infant mortality. There were but 17 infant deaths for each 1,000 living births, a remarkably low rate for a summer month and in view of lessened number of deaths from summer complaint, respiratory and communicable diseases.

Another noteworthy fact in the returns of recent years is the increasing relative importance of still births. In the last ten years the still birth rate, that is the number of still births in one thousand total births varied between 31 and 42. The fact, as compared with the deaths of infants who are born alive is known, is constantly growing. Ten years ago there were in New York state 34 still births to 1,000 deaths of infants under one year; last year the ratio was 42, while in July and August of this year the rate was 47 and 54 respectively. In August, 1927, more than five in a hundred infants died before, during or within one month of birth; five times the number of deaths which occurred to infants between one month and one year of age. It is here that progress in saving lives has been slowest and it is with this type of infant deaths that medical science and medical practice should give its increasing attention.

Yanks Included Among the Great

Series Victory Strengthens Claims of Experts That Yankees Are Among the Greatest Teams of All Time—How Can They Be Stopped?

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Regardless of how much the Pirates contributed to the decisive world's series victory of the Yankees, the result strengthened the claims of those experts who class the American League champions among the greatest teams of all time.

Even so staunch a National Leaguer as "Uncle" Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Robins, declared before the series that he rated the Yankees a few notches above the famous old Baltimore Orioles or any other team in baseball history.

Uncle Wilbert was considered to have become [illegible] excited, biased perhaps by the [illegible] the Yanks had treated his own outfit in spring exhibitions, but the close of the series now finds most of the previously reluctant critics going over to Robinson's point of view.

In Donie Bush's opinion, the Yanks are at least the best club that has represented either league in the world series since the war.

The big issue, among American League teams looking toward next season, is how can the Yankees be stopped?

They ran away with the race this year. The outcome virtually was assured in June and at the finish the Yanks had the overwhelming margin of 19 games over the second place Athletics, who had been picked beforehand by a majority of experts to win the pennant.

The Athletics had some hard luck, perhaps, but their veteran pilot freely admitted late in the season that not even the benefit of all the "breaks" would have enabled his club to beat out the Yanks.

"I don't intend to give up trying to beat them", Connie remarked. "We will strengthen our club for 1928. I have a great pitching staff and am banking heavily on it. Our club showed almost as much hitting power as the Yanks even though not of the long distance variety. We hope to make it close, anyway, next year".

Next year will be Mack's 28th at the helm of the Athletics but he has no idea of quitting the game.

The Yankees, baseball men agree, have everything and look as capable as any club ever has of prolonging its stay at the peak. It is the ambition of Miller Huggins, diminutive manager, and the club owner, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, to equal or surpass the record of the Giants of capturing four consecutive contests.

Huggins has built up a brilliant combination of youth and experience. The three "kid" infielders—Koenig, Lazzeri and Gehrig—who gained regular posts last year, have developed into as great a trio as any in either league. Gehrig has come along in sensational fashion at bat. He gave Ruth a hot race most of the season for home run honors and may do even better next year.

Huggins is looking ahead. He might very well "stand pat" for 1928 on the talent he now bosses but he will be looking as closely at new material for next season as any eighth place manager. His aim, like that of John McGraw's, is to have replacements ready the instant a gap occurs in the regular line. It is one of the secrets of his success that he has been able to develop star young talent when veterans faded from the picture. Moore, Pipgras, Combs, Koenig, Lazzeri and Gehrig all are products of Huggins's tutoring.

Yankees Depart For Their Homes

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—With several of their members planning to leave for home today, the demobilization of the world's champion New York Yanks is just about complete. Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Joe Dugan are to engage in exhibition games but the rest of the squad has played its last game of baseball until the call comes for the spring training camp.

Bob Meusel left for his home in California last night. Lazzeri will depart for his home in San Francisco after a few more games, and Joe Dugan, after filling his engagement, returns to Scarsdale, N. Y. Ruth and Gehrig are booked for a barnstorming tour that will take them to the west coast. Bob Shawkey, Mark Koenig and Benny Bengough will join Eddie Collins, of the Athletics, Sam Jones, of Washington, Joe Bush of Toledo, and Fred Hoffman, of the Red Sox, on a hunting trip to New Brunswick. Herb Pennock will return to Kennett Square, near Philadelphia, to manage his Silver fox farm. Pat Collins is leaving for his home in Kansas City, where he has a bowling alley. Nearly all the other Yanks are on their way.

The players met and settled the distribution of the winning team's share, and each of the regulars gets $5,702. Manager Miller Huggins, Charley O'Leary, assistant manager, and Art Fletcher, the coach, receiving full shares and faithful officials being remembered with smaller sums.

Giving All

Giants' Boss Not Hard-Boiled

Rogers Hornsby, discussing his baseball playing code, his ideas of leadership, attitude toward the game and the fans, leaves the distinct impression that he comes of the same school that turned out John J. McGraw—or perhaps it was McGraw that started it.

John J. McGraw.

"I would rather work for McGraw than any other man in baseball because I realize, and so do all the other players, that he's forgotten more baseball than we know.

"There isn't any friction on the club, either. You hear stories about wrangling in the clubhouse or on the bench once in a while. They're bunk. We may not always work smoothly, but there isn't any argument over who's running the team or why.

"You know, they think I'm hard-boiled, too. They said that of me when I was managing the Cardinals last year. I don't do any kidding around on the field, if that's what they mean. When I'm out there, it's all business.

"I like McGraw's methods. It wasn't difficult for me to adjust myself to the Giants' style of play. The game is the same. When Mac puts confidence enough in me to let me run the club at times I attempt to follow out his plans just as though he were on the bench."

Feinting Is Lost Art Among the Heavyweights

Joe Choynski, famous heavyweight of past years, who knocked out Jack Johnson, says the big boxers of today do not know how to feint.

"It seems to me the big fellows take numbers of unnecessary punches," said the veteran. "They seem content to take a punch to land one. They apparently have not been taught the art of slipping punches or how to pull away from or get inside of long swings.

"Back in the old days even Jeffries knew a lot about feinting," he went on. "Fitzsimmons was a great feinter and so was Jim Corbett. Even Peter Maher and Gus Ruhlin knew how to draw their opponent's leads.

"I wish," he concluded, after watching Jim Maloney, Big Boy Peterson, Arthur De Kuh, the Italian, and Jack Sherry of New York perform recently in Chicago's first all-heavyweight bill, "that I could go back 25 years. I would be a millionaire in less than a year."

Bad Breaks Fail To Discourage Yellow Jackets

Long Island Collegians Show Up Two Hours Late — Manager Dwyer Books Opposition for Next Sunday at the Fair Grounds.

The Yellow Jackets, local semi-pro football team, is displaying the same courage and true sportsmanship that have crowned their successes on the gridiron field of battle, in their endeavor to bring to this city elevens capable of exhibiting first class semi-pro brand of football. In their aim to fulfill this promise, made solely to themselves, they have encountered many obstacles which took the mettle of a gridiron warrior to face undismayingly.

Sunday another battle scar was added to the collection of bad breaks, which is believed by the most pessimistic supporter to soon break, when the Long Island Collegians scheduled to play at the Fair Grounds at 3 o'clock did not arrive in this city until 5 o'clock. Manager Dwyer was in touch with the manager of the Collegians before 7 o'clock Sunday morning, at which time they said they were starting for Kingston. Shortly after 12 o'clock noon he received a telephone call again from the manager, who stated that the bus in which the team was riding broke down, but they had secured another and would arrive on time. Failing to make an appearance shortly after 4 o'clock, the game was called.

The score cards sold at the gate were returned and the money was refunded. There was an exceptionally large attendance considering the very inclement weather. On Sunday, October 2, the Staten Island team was over two hours late, but the local gridders are not discouraged—just more determined.

Ossining Here Sunday.

Manager Bill Dwyer will not be in the busy midst of the Yellow Jackets managerial duties Sunday, when the Ossining eleven appears here and he expects his non-appearance might break the spell. The Yellow Jacket manager is going to Baltimore to see if the Notre Dame or Navy elevens can compare with his warriors.

In bringing the Ossining gridders here, the Yellow Jackets are again displaying their courage in meeting strong opposition. The Ossining team is said to be a powerful squad and last season compiled a good record. It is believed that this team will arrive on time and the players and fans will not be compelled to suffer any more disappointments.

Failure to find elevens in the Hudson Valley that would make a showing worthy of viewing, is the hardest task before the Yellow Jackets. Great chance for delay in booking teams from the New York city area is now realized and for the remainder of the season teams in nearby cities will be booked. Starting with Ossining Sunday, the other teams to appear here will include the West Point Service, the West Point Artillery, Peekskill, Beacon and Troy Professionals.

Notre Dame Will Tackle the Navy

Game at Baltimore Next Saturday Holds Star Place On Good Schedule—Other Intersectional Contests.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Notre Dame is coming east this week to put on exhibition another of its famous Rockne-coached football elevens, and the Indianians pitted against the Navy at Baltimore, have been accorded the star place on a schedule that brings together several top notch aggregations.

Notre Dame will unleash its drive for prominence against an unusually strong team. Navy, with victories over Davis Elkins and Drake, has showed enough to be classed as one of the strongest teams in the east. Sloane at end and Lloyd in the backfield have been tagged as all-American possibilities by their fine play. Rockne's team has made a good start with victories over Coe College and Detroit.

Another intersectional contest will bring together Princeton and Washington and Lee. The southerners held the Tigers to a 7-7 tie last year and this season hold a victory over Duke University, conqueror of Boston College.

Yale, smarting under its 14-10 beating at the hands of Georgia, meets another beaten team in Brown at New Haven. The Bull Dogs want to make up for a bad start this year and atone for the 7-0 defeat the "iron men" handed them last year. "Tuss" McLaughry's eleven, a victim of Penn's powerful machine, will have to trim Yale to stay in the big parade. The defeat at Philadelphia was the first Brown had received since the Harvard game of 1925.

Harvard, another of Saturday's upset victims, runs up against Holy Cross, the school that has inflicted two beatings to the Crimson in the last two years. Three in a row for Holy Cross would settle any lingering doubt about football supremacy between the institutions.

Football critics were agreed that Harvard would have to show marked improvement over its form against Purdue to win. Horween's team appeared slow of foot against the dashing, versatile attack of the western conference representatives. Joe Crosby alone was able to make headway against the Purdue line, and the Harvard lateral passes were smeared with regularity.

Army will go out against Davis Elkins trying to improve a defense that let Marquette score 12 points last week at West Point while the cadets were pushing over three touchdowns. LaFayette, with one of the best records in the east, journeys to Morgantown for a game with West Virginia. The Maroon won its 16th consecutive game when it held Rutgers to one first down and ran up a 56-0 score. Penn's 14-6 win over Brown makes Coach Lou Young's team a favorite over Penn State at Philadelphia. Penn State lost to Bucknell in one of the surprise games of last week. Columbia will play Congate at New York, and at the Yankee Stadium New York University will line up against Fordham. Pittsburgh, displaying a strong all around game against West Virginia, hikes back to Des Moines for a game with Drake.

K. H. S. Eleven Scores a Win

The Kingston High football squad broke its string of 15 consecutive defeats when it won from the Highland Falls High team, here, Saturday. The score was 7 to 6.

Kingston's only chance for a score was in the first half of the game when after many gains the ball was finally nosed over the line for the touchdown. Wonderly made the extra point.

The Highland Falls eleven secured a touchdown in the last quarter but were unable to get the extra point.

Kingston High's next game will be with the St. Stephen's team. The Annandale group has always furnished excellent competition for the Maroon and White. The game will be played on the Fair Grounds Saturday, October 15.

Game Called, Pan-Ams to Meet.

The game between the Pan-Ams and the Clermonts scheduled to be played at the Saugerties road diamond Sunday afternoon was not played due to the rain. Manager McNally of the Pan-Ams requests that all of his diamond performers attend a meeting of the club this evening at 7:30 in the Pan-Ams station as very important matters will be discussed.

Ruth and Gehrig Not Coming Here

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, heavy swatters of the New York Yankees will not appear at the Fair Grounds, owing to their manager Christy Walsh's eager desire to have the pair of sluggers play on the west coast as early as possible. They will no doubt feature in several games for the next few days about New York before the starting of their barnstorming tour to the coast but will not travel any farther north in this state.

The Colonials finished their season's work here and will hang up their togs for another year. They were to have played the Bushwicks at Dexter Park, Brooklyn Sunday but the unfavorable weather prevented even the opening of the gates at the grounds. The locals left Kingston at 7:30 Sunday morning and had gone about as far as Newburgh when rain began to fall. The remainder of the trip and the weather in Brooklyn was very disagreeable.

Family Neither Dead Nor Dying

Conference on Family Life in America Finds Family Is Not Disintegrating But Believes Education of Both Sexes Is Needed.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 10 (AP).—Although it may be ill in spots and needs careful nursing, the American family is neither dead nor dying, in the opinion of the committee which arranged the first Conference on Family Life in America.

With proper care and follow-up training, the committee believes, the family will emerge a stronger and more satisfying institution than it ever has been.

In a series of meetings, clinics and round-table discussions over a period of four days, the family, including its biological origin and its modern phases, was analyzed by executives of welfare organizations, social work leaders, economists, educators and scientists. One thousand delegates attended the sessions.

Committee Findings.

The findings of the conference committee, of which Frank J. Bruno, of Washington University, St. Louis, is chairman, follow:

First—The American family is not, as many claim, disintegrating; it is, in fact, on as firm a foundation as ever, and is likely to continue indefinitely as the basis of civilization.

Second—The American family is undergoing radical changes in the form of its life in the home, in sources of its income and expenses and in the relationship between husband an wife, between parents and children and to the community.

Third—The changes in family life are corollary to the evolution of thought, industry and science, and these changes, therefore cannot be predicted; radical readjustments within the family are necessary, and the most important problem of social workers and others interested in the integrity of the family is to prepare men, women and children for these readjustments.

Vital Needs for Future.

The conference agreed that the most vital need is education and training for marriage and parenthood.

A statement issued by the committee, said:

"Not only will the family continue as the predominant unit of society, but will, for the most part, continue on the basis of lifelong monogamy; this is the most satisfying form of family life for human beings because of economic, biological and social reasons. With the economic freedom of women, however, the family which has been held together in the past largely by pressure of the common tasks necessary for its economic support, will depend upon the strength of its affectional ties.

"Industry must take more account of the effect on family life of fatigue and monotony, and other deteriorating effects of a machine age. The worker should be enabled to bring to his job the strength of social sufficiency, and he must not be denied the strengthening influences of his own family, which he must be able to keep in health and well being.

Outstanding Aspects of Marriage.

"By contrast with the reformers who are now contending that marriage is not the state's or the nation's business and that, especially where no children are involved, marital and sex relations are nobody's business but that of the two persons concerned, the conference feels that marriage always has had at least four outstanding aspects: its strictly personal aspect, its family aspect, its community aspect and its state aspect. There is great opportunity for all groups in the community—schools, churches, women's and men's clubs—to give active help in more adequate education for marriage and parenthood.

"How to make men and women so that they may want to participate in the joint adventure of family life and how to equip them so that they may do it successfully are the real tasks which face America today.

"Home is not a house, but people. The family, marriage and parenthood depend upon the relationships of individuals. Every phase of life in America today must share in strengthening the bonds of the family and the home so that it may meet the increasing strain of modern life."

Record Continues In Incorporations

Albany, Oct. 10.—There may come a day in New York state when it will be next to impossible to select a name under which a company or an individual may incorporate and enter into business without stepping on someone's toes, who already has selected a somewhat similar name. But the end is not yet. Last month, for instance, a total of 1,743 stock companies incorporated in New York state, with a capitalization around fifty million dollars, and even at that there were 350 companies that did not state their capitalization when they incorporated, but which were authorized to issue stock having no par value.

It now looks as though 1927 would surely be a record breaker in the number of companies incorporated. For the first nine months this year there has been a total of 19,249 companies, or 113 more than during the same period last year. If business wasn't good, and if there wasn't a whole lot of confidence in the future, it would be a different story. When capital gets a bit shaky, companies fall off in the number seeking charters.

It was noticeable, however, that there appeared to be a little let up last month in the number of real estate and construction companies that incorporated. This was generally ascribed to the fact that winter is approaching and there would naturally be less activity in this field.

MISS MAUTERSTOCK'S PUPILS RECEIVE PRIZES.

The pupils of Miss Ethel Mauterstock met together last Saturday afternoon in the lecture room of the Trinity M. E. Church. From 2:30 until 5 o'clock not a dull moment was spent by anyone present.

An interesting program arranged by Miss Mauterstock was thoroughly enjoyed, after which games were played.

Delicious refreshments were next in order and after these were disposed of the pupils made one large circle and listened to a talk by Miss Mauterstock on correct practicing, regular attendance and a determination to accomplish worth while results.

Prizes were given to those pupils who had had perfect attendance during the past year. Also special prizes to the three having the highest average in their work.

Miss Mauterstock commended her large class on their excellent work in the past and asked for their interest and cooperation during the present year.

A place of honor at Mohonk has lately been held by the night blooming cereus, which bloomed one September week end for the second time this season. In the sun parlor under a high power electric bulb which brought out every detail to perfection, the cereus received the admiration of many visitors. The fragrance of the beautiful white flower is said to be like that of a Spanish flower found in mid-summer in Southern California. "Huele de Noches" (breath of the night).

This year the Mohonk House will close Tuesday, October 18. Nearly up to that time, says the Bulletin, the popular and chief forms of diversion will be golf and putting.

The Republican town caucus was held October 3 at the trustees' rooms.

Harvey Mertine, who has been in the Kingston City Hospital for two weeks under treatment for spinal trouble, returned home Tuesday in a very much improved condition.

The many friends of Milton Gregory, who has been receiving treatment at the Kingston City Hospital for some time, are glad to welcome him home again.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—Renewal of selling pressure against pivotal industries and rails brought about another sharp reaction in today's stock market. Net declines ran from one to five points despite the efforts of pools to revive bullish interests by marking up a few specialties to new high records, and the retention of the four per cent call money rate in the face of another deficit in clearing house reserve.

Although a drop of 47,924 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation was about in line with expectations, liquidation of steel common was quite persistent, the stock dropping below 144 as against a high of 160½ less than a month ago. Bethlehem sold down to 54 as speculative hopes of a dividend resumption this year faded away.

Outside the stock market, chief interest centered in a drop of $3.50 a bale in cotton futures in reflection of a weak Liverpool market and more favorable crop weather.

Case Threshing Machine, Air Reduction, Union Carbide, American Water Works, Abitibi Power, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, New York Central and many other recent leaders sold down 2 to 5 points.

Funeral from the residence of Mr. Wilson on Wednesday at 3 p. m., with interment in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Milton, Oct. 10.—Funeral services for Robert W. Hallock were held from his late home Friday afternoon. The Rev. Lindley M. Stevens of Oakwood Seminary and a friend of Mr. Hallock had charge of the service which was largely attended. Interment took place at the Society of Friends Cemetery where the Masonic service was conducted. Mr. Hallock was in his 60th year. He was a member of the Highland Masonic Lodge, Milton Grange Men's Club and had been director of the Milton Bank since its organization. Mr. Hallock was also president of the board of trustees of the Sarah Hull Hallock Free Library. His sudden passing was a great shock to the entire community and he will be greatly missed.

Leave It to the Wife

"I dunno why women want to nag so," complained Mr. Wombat.

"What's wrong now?"

"There's always something wrong. Either I'm home too late or I'm home too early. Maybe I get dandruff on my coat collar or soup on my vest. It's this, that and the other. My wife is always finding some flaw."

"They mean it for your good, old man," advised his sagacious friend. "A wife wants her husband to appear at his best. To keep him so is a labor of love."

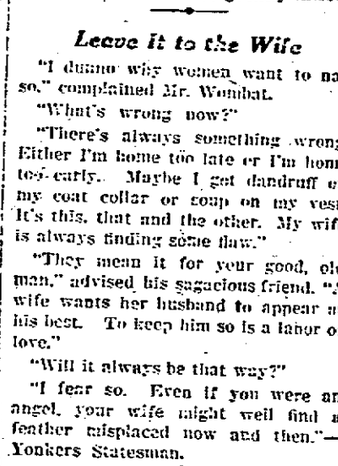

"Will it always be that way?"

"I fear so. Even if you were an angel, your wife might well find a feather misplaced now and then."—Yonkers Statesman.

Captain Branson Is All American

First Leader of The Marine Band Whose Parents Were Born in America—A Native of Washington, D. C.

CAPT. TAYLOR BRANSON.

When the United States Marine Band is heard here on Wednesday, October 19 in the armory, it will be under the direction of Capt. Taylor Branson, the new leader. Branson is the seventeenth leader of this noted military band and the first whose parents were both native born Americans. He is the second leader to be born in Washington, the first having been Sousa.

Although this will be Capt. Branson's first appearance on tour as the official director of the band, he is by no means a stranger, having carried much of the exacting duties of leadership as the second in command under his former chief, Capt. Santelmann, who recently retired after wielding the baton for almost thirty years.

Capt. Branson is considered one of the ablest leaders and program builders in the country besides being an accomplished musician and composer.

He is entirely a product of the Marine Band, having enlisted, like Sousa, when he was but seventeen years of age. His musical education has been developed chiefly from association with musicians of the band. As a boy he began the study of the violin under Capt. Santelmann, then a member of the band. He studied the clarinet with Andrea Coda and composition with Arthur Tregina, both of whom were Marine Bandsmen.

Capt. Branson has been a solo violinist of the Marine Band for more than twenty years and for a quarter of a century or more has directed the band's orchestra for the famed Gridiron Club dinners. Early radio fans will remember him as leader of perhaps the first orchestra to broadcast instrumental music, this having been done in 1922 from the old Naval Air Station at Anacostia, D. C.

Like so many of his present and past associates Branson is a composer of considerable ability and he is especially proud of a series of marches which he has dedicated to the Marine Corps.

Briquettes of Charcoal

The forest products laboratory says that in briquetting charcoal it has been found necessary to use certain binders, such as gums or starches. Briquetting has also been accomplished by using tar or pitch as a binder and then subjecting the briquettes to a low temperature distillation in order to drive off the volatile material from the tar or pitch.

Steamer Aground Near Esopus

The Cornell tug Earl worked throughout the day in an effort to release the steamer Storm King of the Catskill Evening Line which ran aground in the shallow part of the Hudson river near Esopus Sunday about 11 p. m. while completing her course up the stream in a dense fog.

The Storm King is in such a position that it is difficult to carry on the work of releasing it and although the Cornell tug and an augmented crew worked during the entire day in an effort to extricate it up until the time The Freeman went to press little progress had been made.

Pity Dickens Couldn't See Into the Future

Charles Dickens visited the United States in 1842. Of Pennsylvania he reported: "We have passed, both in the mountains and elsewhere, a great number of new settlements and detached log houses. Their utterly forlorn and miserable appearance baffles all description. I have not seen six cabins out of 600 where the windows have been whole. Old hats, old clothes, old boards, old fragments of blanket and paper, are stuffed into the broken glass; and their air is misery and desolation. It pains the eye to see the stumps of great trees thickly strewn in every field of wheat, and never to lose the eternal swamp and dull morass, with hundreds of rotten trunks steeped in its unwholesome water."

This region is now one of the gardens of America, made so by those settlers too poor to buy glass, and by their descendants.

Of an Ohio road he wrote: "It is impossible to convey an adequate idea to you of the kind of road over which we traveled. I can only say that it was, at the best, a track through the wild forest and among the swamps, bogs and morasses of the withered bush."

The road is now United States highway No. 21, running through one of the richest farm lands in the world.—Detroit News.

Ocean Holds Account of Columbus' Voyage

When Christopher Columbus returned to Spain from the New world, he stopped on February 14, 1493, at Santa Maria, one of the Islands of the Azores, probably to take water. Four days before this he had encountered a severe storm and was convinced that he, his men and his vessels must perish. Columbus realized in his heart that he was going back to Spain with news of a discovery second in importance to no other, and when it seemed that his ship would sink at any moment, he set to work to make a record of his mighty undertaking, hoping that by some will of the fates it would not be lost to posterity. So he carefully prepared as complete an account of his voyage as was possible. He wrote the details of his journey on a stout piece of parchment, wrapped it in a piece of waterproof cloth, then placed it in an iron-bound barrel and threw it into the ocean. But the fates were kinder to Columbus than to this account, for it never was found.—S. W. Rosenbach, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Orchard Information

COVER BRAMBLES BEFORE WINTER

Small fruit growers should cover all their brambles, including the red, black and purple raspberries, blackberries, dewberries and loganberries, as soon as possible, in order to avoid early hard freezes. Brambles growing in especially protected places may not need covering, but this is not often the case.

Before covering, it is advisable to remove all old canes that bore fruit this year, where they were not removed at the end of the bearing season. Remove all inferior and weakened canes, leaving eight to fifteen canes per hill, and cut them back to three or four feet long. Cutting back may be delayed until after the canes are uncovered in the spring.

Cover the canes on days when there is no freezing temperature as they break easily if partially frozen. Bend the canes over and weight the tops down with some soil and then shovel enough dirt over them to completely cover them to a depth of three or four inches. They must be covered completely. If the canes tend to break on bending, remove a shovelful of dirt from the side of the canes toward which they are bent. Covering is facilitated by plowing two furrows on each side of the row before shoveling the earth onto the canes. This allows the formation of a well-rounded ridge with wide bases to prevent the earth falling off the ridge. Strawy manure can be used when it can be secured in sufficient quantities for complete covering.

One should be careful in bending blackberry canes, since they tend to break easily. Bend them at an angle of 45 degrees with the rows to facilitate covering, to give the canes more room, and to avoid the tendency for the rows to become ridged.

Small fruits must be covered completely and covered before freezing weather if winter injury and consequent crop reduction are to be avoided. —Richard V. Lott, Instructor in Horticulture, Colorado Agricultural College

Measuring P. D. B. Made Easy for Peach Grower

The inconvenience of weighing out exact quantities of paradichlorobenzene for peach tree borer treatment has created a considerable demand for a quick measuring gauge. Therefore, peach growers will be interested in the directions for such a gauge given by Frank H. Beach, extension horticulturist in Ohio.

Cut a piece of smooth paper 4 1-16 inches long and 2⅝ inches wide. Draw a line exactly through the middle and the long way. Mark it one-half ounce. Now draw a second line dividing one of these halves equally; name this line three-fourths ounce. Roll the paper into a cylinder, lines marking the ounces inside, and paste it into place. In doing this, overlap the end exactly seven-eighths of an inch. The cylinder will hold an ounce of P. D. B.

Place the cylinder on any hard surface and fill with P. D. B. to the line indicating the quantity you need. Pour the fine crystals of the chemical into a small wide-mouthed bottle and gauge the various amounts on it. A file may be used to cut a mark.

If you have a small bottle that will be convenient in measuring, you could have your local druggist mark the bottle instead of going to the trouble of making the little paper cylinder.

In using the chemical remember that a half ounce to three-fourths ounce is the quantity to use on trees three to five years of age. None on younger trees. Mature trees six years old and over may be treated with an ounce.

Horticulture Facts

Winter apples are not ready to pick until the seeds have started to turn a brown color.

* * *

A strawberry patch will not usually give more than two or three good harvests as a rule.

* * *

If the old berry canes have not been removed after fruiting, they should be removed now, and the berries given a good mulch of stable manure.

* * *

Concord is the best known of all grapes and is still the mainstay of most commercial plantings. It has many good qualities which commend it. Sheridan, a cross between Worden and Herbert, is recommended as a variety to follow Concord.

* * *

A great many growers feel it is inadvisable to grow strawberries between peach or apple trees.

* * *

The safest way to protect trees against gnawing by rabbits is to use wire screen or some other wrapper on the trees.

* * *

To test the firmness of apples as a guide to the proper picking of the fruit for storage and for shipment, a mechanical tester has been devised which measures the degree of softness in the ripening fruit.

Jewish Feast Of Tabernacles

The Jewish festival of Succoth or Feast of Tabernacles will be celebrated this year from Monday night, October 10th, at sundown, to Tuesday night, October 18th, at the same time. The festival lasts regularly eight days and is celebrated by all Jews throughout the world. It was celebrated by the Jews when they lived in Palestine as an agricultural festival, and marked the close of the harvest and the beginning of the plowing and the rainy season. It was a festival of rejoicing and merry-making when the servant was equal to the master and all united in praising and thanking God for His bountiful gifts. The Bible commanded that on this festival all the people should make a pilgrimage to the Temple at Jerusalem, and there, after offering their sacrifices, should dwell in booths or tabernacles, hastily erected of wood and beautifully decorated with fruits and flowers to remind them both of the harvest season and how their ancestors had dwelt in booths in the wilderness. Many Jews still observe the latter custom, today. In some synagogues, too, a modernized form of the harvest festival is celebrated.

Some also celebrate a supplementary festival on the ninth day, called Rejoicing of the Law, because on that day the sacred scrolls of the Law of Moses are rolled back to the beginning of Genesis and are begun to be read anew. In many synagogues the scrolls are taken from the holy ark in which they are kept and carried about in solemn procession.

Gas Tax Revenue For Road Support

State Farm Bureau Federation Urges Fair Share of New Revenue be Returned to Counties—Why State Aid Decreases.

Ithaca, Oct. 10.—Over one-half of the town taxes in this state are now being used for the maintenance of roads, as compared with only 4.77 per cent of city taxes for this purpose, according to an article on gas tax which appeared in the October issue of The Bureau Farmer, official publication of the American Farm Bureau Federation and the New York State Farm Bureau Federation. The latter is advocating that a fair share of the proposed gas tax revenue be returned to the counties for road support, in order to lighten the burden of rural taxpayers.

Twenty-five or thirty years ago, the article points out, upkeep of roads was a small item for counties. With the enormous increase in automobiles around 1900, the average rate of travel "jumped from a leisurely horse trot to thirty miles an hour, and people began to find the roads intolerable." The continuous demand for improved highways since that time has resulted in an ever increasing burden for general property, the only source of county income.

A study of the travel on 25 New York state roads, made recently by the State College of Agriculture, is quoted to show that today roads are no longer primarily local in use, 62 per cent of the total travel on the roads studied being from other states, and from counties within the state other than the one in which the traffic records were taken. Yet in spite of the shift in use of the roads from local to interurban and even interstate the counties are still being heavily taxed for their upkeep.

State Aid Decreases Yearly.

The percentage of state aid for town highway expense decreases yearly, "not because the state is cutting down its contribution but because county roads costs have grown by leaps and bounds. In 1923, state aid for town highways was only 15.6 per cent as compared with 17.5 per cent in 1917."

If New York enters the list of gasoline tax states, as it undoubtedly will, its revenue from the tax will be very large, as this state is an enormous user of motor fuel. Division of such revenue between the state and the counties for road support would achieve a more equitable distribution of highway expense than exists at present, for in this way the motorists who use the roads would be contributing directly to their upkeep.

Outwit Gasoline Thief by Lock on Gas Tank

The tourist and auto camper often finds his gas tank mysteriously empty after a night spent in a strange camp or if the car has been stored in a strange garage. Petty thievery of this kind can be stopped by fitting a lock to your gas tank filler cap as shown in the illustration. The hasp and hinge are cut out of heavy sheet iron. The staple is obtainable in a hardware store. Bend the end of the hinge so that the hasp will clear the nuts. Use long bolts and push them through the holes from the inside of the tank so that you can grasp the ends of the bolts with the pliers while you tighten the nuts. The ends of the bolts can then be cut off and hammered over so that there will be no chance of their loosening up. Use gaskets cut from vellumoid under the bolt heads.—Popular Science Monthly.

Locking Your Gasoline Filler Cap in This Way Will Prevent Those Mysterious Losses of Gasoline That Sometimes Occur on Motor Tours.

Spring Adjustment for New or Old Automobiles

When in the course of operation valve springs become weak, they should be stretched or else have a washer placed under them. If a car spring becomes so that one side of the vehicle sags, the addition of another leaf will remedy the trouble. In a new car it frequently happens that the owner finds cause for complaint in regard to hard riding, due to the fact that the springs are stiff. The difficulty may be obviated by removing a leaf, if so desired, but before long the new springs will limber up merely through ordinary usage.

Weight of Goldfish

A goldfish weighing five pounds is quite large. Generally speaking, goldfish in and about Maryland attain a weight of two and two and one-half pounds. Of course, the weight depends upon food and heat. They usually grow larger in the southern states.

GOOD ROAD MAP HELPS TOURIST

Not Safe to Rely on People Along Road for Directions.

Telegraph poles always lead to cities. Road maps usually tell the truth. The sun and stars are helpful in determining directions.

Instructions such as those above are so simple as to seem almost foolish, and yet they are often fundamental in successful touring.

How to Plan a Tour.

Even if you are one of those carefree motorists who likes to start out with no knowledge of his destination, it is best to secure a number of good road maps before planning a tour. Many motor clubs and associations furnish maps which are not only reliable but which indicate blazed trails. With a map of this kind, touring is simply a matter of following painted poles.

In traveling, don't rely on directions you get from people walking along the road. Directions obtained in this way are often surprisingly wrong. If you must ask some one about directions, hail a passing motorist, since a man in an automobile is more likely to be familiar with the surrounding country.

Troubles of Tourist.

Service station men say that most of the mechanical troubles encountered by tourists are of a minor sort. It is therefore a saving of time and money to know how to make minor repairs. Carry patches, cement, and a gasoline vulcanizer for your tires and tubes, and be sure, too, to have a good spare tire and tube. Learn how to remove, inflate and replace a tire. Put plenty of gasoline in the tank—a visible gauge, if your car is equipped with one, will help you keep the proper amount of gasoline. Keep the cooling system full of water. Before starting on a tour, it is a good plan to have your car looked over by a competent service man.

Automobile Light Glare Remedy Is Being Sought

Seeking for a remedy for headlight glare the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce voted a fund to support the research of the Society of Automobile Engineers and the United States bureau of standards in this field, at its annual meeting held in New York.

A fund also was voted to the highway education board for continuance of the annual national safety essay and lesson contest for which more than 500 prizes are given annually.

The meeting was devoted mainly to merchandising and transport problems.

Leaders in the business believe that better use of existing highways through building over passes and opening up dead-end streets, wider roads, by-pass roads, improved lighting, more modern garaging and other engineering factors will go far toward making traffic safer and more efficient.

Static Electricity Is Apt to Cause Explosion

Static electricity is apt to send a spark from the metal nozzle of the gasoline pump hose to the filler pipe of the gas tank when metal touches metal, and for this reason it is a good plan to tap the nozzle against the rear bumper or fender guards before inserting it in the filler pipe. Any spark that is about to be released then is less likely to start a fire, because it does not occur directly over the vapor from the gasoline tank.

It is also well to bear in mind always that there is more danger of an explosion from an empty gas tank than from one that is full. It is the vapor of gas that causes combustion, not the gasoline itself. A tank with just a little gas and a lot of air is an ideal mixture for an explosion. A tank that is nearly filled often will catch fire without exploding.
